$38,896,763 in Registration Fees

Albany, N. Y., May 18.—Automobile owners paid New York
state $38,896,763.62 in registration fees during the first three months of this year—an increase of $1,921,744.22 over the corresponding period in 1937. State
Commissioner of Motor Vehicles
Charles A. Harnett announced today.
At the same time Commissioner Harnett reported that the number of vehicles licensed in the
state had increased from 2,071,822,
for the first three months of the last year to 2,172,851 for the same period of 1938, a gain of 61,029.

Esopus, May 18.—Ascension Day, Thursday, May 25, being the

vice which will be held at 8 p. m.

was founded by the same ardent Episcopal missionary, the Rev.
Rouben Sherwood, D. D., and years.

In the morning of Ascension Day there will be a celebration of the Holy Communion at 10

ing service in the parish house.

HIGHLAND NEWS

Highland, May 18.—Three apparently wild dogs coming from the direction of the river front
wrought destruction recently
among the flock of some 5,000
chickens at the home of J. D.
Lester on the Perkinsville road
south of Highland. The chickens, Rhode Island Reds, are kept
in houses with ends of heavy
wire netting which the dogs
broke through and on Thursday
night killed 450 young chickens.
Traps were set but the dogs
seemed to avoid them and returned Saturday night and killed 14 more. On Sunday night the dogs centered their interest
around the houses at the farm of Henry DuBois but did not get at the chickens. On Monday the dogs were seen and were surrounded, heading them toward
the Lester farm where several men with guns awaited their getting within range when they were frightened and ran. They were trapped then as they made their way toward the river. The dogs
are of three sizes, one very large
and two smaller, of police blood
with strength in their jaws.

The ascensors, Hudson Cove, N. Y., visited the farm. In allowing for the loss the large fowls
were averaged at $1.50 apiece
and the smaller at a less amount,
although Mr. Lester said that $2
would not replace the large chickens. The total to be paid
by the county will be $467.40.
This is the greatest amount paid
for such damage in the town of Lloyd. The town dog catcher, Mericle, laid in wait Monday

but no dogs came around, apparently their thirst for blood
was satisfied for the time.

MOTHER'S JOB

The ease with which modern women do their housework, says an expert in child guidance, is breaking down modern homes. "Mothers these days get their work done so quickly that they either sit twiddling their thumbs or go out somewhere." Someone might raise a question about thumb-twiddling. Is there anyone in the audience who has ever seen a mother twiddle her thumbs? She might sit and rock, which is perhaps a form of twiddling. Or play solitaire, which is another variation. But from general indications, such as are visible on the street, in the movie houses, at friendly bridge tables, at the bargain sales, and so on, Mother goes out.

This is bound to happen when housework is so simplified and eased by modern household equipment, prepared foods and ready-made clothing. Housewifery becomes a part-time job. So women either idle, or seek jobs outside of the home to fill up their time. This latter remedy is often unwise, suggests the expert. There is still a chance for a career in the home—as big a chance as ever. It is raising children, making a real job of it and producing a first-class product.

"Women have to decide which they want," he says. "They need to be told that it often takes more brains and training to be a good mother than to take somebody's dictation, to sell goods, to write advertising, to be a doctor or lawyer."

SIZE TO ORDER

If we want to be a race of physical giants, all right. Maybe experiments that Dr. Herbert M. Evans, biologist in the University of California, has been conducting for many years, will make it possible. Dr. Evans has got to the point where he can add a pound to the weight of a rat by the simple process of putting into the rat's food one-twentieth of a grain of a gland extract. By the same procedure he has made an undersized 15-year-old boy grow 8½ inches in 21 months.

The gland is the pituitary, a pear-shaped thing at the base of the brain, about the size of a medium-sized acorn. It seems to be the most wonderful gland in the body. It might be called many glands in one, for it serves as a sort of powerhouse controlling in various ways about a dozen different physical organs and functions, by means of the hormones or chemical substances that it pours into the blood stream. Dr. Evans extracts his hormones from the pituitary glands of oxen. Apparently any animal would do.

This quest seems, to many scientists, to offer the most promise of anything yet discovered, for regulating man's physical growth and development. It might even result in improvement of the human brain, directly or through the improved functioning of other organs.

LOST FAITH

"Many influences have combined to produce the present world situation," says a leading clergyman, "but one of the greatest and most disastrous of these has been the loss of faith in God by many of the peoples of the earth."

Doubtless he is right. As long as men believe in a superhuman power they can keep going secure in their faith that, no matter how bad things may be, they will work out all right in the end. The present generation, in the most highly civilized nations, has made such remarkable progress along material lines that it has lost interest in spiritual things. People have come to believe only in themselves. Thus when their own plans and powers fail, they have nothing to fall back on, and their world collapses.

Mankind, however, has passed through such periods in the past. After prolonged suffering, as a result of his own ignorance or folly, man has usually gained new faith in a power that rules life and works for righteousness.

THE REIGN OF FEAR

There is much sympathy for Haile Selassie, the emperor without a country, and for his conquered people. It was a noble plea that he made before the League of Nations council at Geneva, but a hopeless one. "Members of the League," he said, "this is a reign of fear. The states that are members of the League are each one for itself. Since this contagion of oppression has spread through the world, states have permitted international morality to vanish. May God forgive them! Ethiopia continues to climb her Calvary."

It is a reign of fear, and so it is a reign of cowardice. There is moral cowardice along with physical courage. Fascist Italy gets away with the cruel conquest of Ethiopia and Japan gets away with the less cruel but lawless conquest of Manchuria, and Nazi Germany does likewise with Austria, and the fascist powers meddle in Spain, making civil war more terrible than ever before, and no one knows what the end will be.

We didn't have "economic cycles" or "periods of industrial recession" in the good old days. All we had then were bank panics and dull business.

Wary congressmen will soon swarm home, as you might say, hell-bent for election.

You don't hear so much demand any more for shorter hours. Men want to do a full day's work and get a full day's pay.

In the horse-and-buggy age the man furnished the rig and the girl furnished the grub.

Maybe we are intelligent beings, but we still think a bumper wheat crop is something to worry about.

Even when a dictator like Hitler or Mussolini makes a speech, it doesn't register on the seismograph.

BREATHING EXERCISES FOR ASTHMA

In my student days the cause of asthma was unknown. That it seemed to "run in some families" and that all that could be done was to give amyl nitrite during an attack was about the extent of our knowledge and treatment.

Today it is known that a complex of three ailments—hay fever, asthma and eczema—does run in some families, and the members of such families are predisposed or have tissues that are predisposed to asthma, hay fever, and eczema. If they come in contact with certain substances by breathing, eating, or handling. Since this has become known many are now kept free of attacks by avoiding these substances or by having had their tissues "desensitized"—tiny amounts of the substance being injected under the skin.

In asthma there appear to be other conditions which enter into the cause of the attacks such as defects and infection of the nose and throat, or other exciting causes have been corrected, attacks persist, often, it is believed, because of emotional disturbances.

However, and this is the important point, no matter what causes the asthmatic attacks, the majority of all asthma cases are helped by the breathing exercises advocated by the Asthma Research Council of Great Britain.

I have mentioned and outlined these exercises before but any asthmatic can obtain the little book of instructions—"Breathing Exercises for Asthma"—by sending a postal order for one dollar—twenty-five cents to Secretary, Asthma Research Council, King's College, Strand, London, W. C. 2, England.

"There is no doubt that all patients who have suffered from asthma for any length of time tend to develop a wrong way of breathing which interferes with the proper emptying of used air from the lungs. Exercises to promote proper breathing are therefore a treatment which should be given to every asthmatic."

At King's College Hospital Asthma Clinic the results of this exercise treatment for 1937 were: 40 per cent of cases of asthma had either disappeared entirely or became so slight as to cause no inconvenience; in about 30 per cent the condition was very much improved and there remained 20 per cent failures. Of the 30 per cent of failures, half of these did not or could not learn the correct method of breathing; the other half did not improve despite the fact that they were breathing correctly.

FOOD ALLERGY
 "What is one man's food is another man's poison" is an old saying but the truth of it is being demonstrated almost daily by leading research physicians throughout the world. Some individuals are oversensitive to certain foods and will have colds in their heads, "snuffy" noses, pains in the stomach or abdomen when they eat those foods which others suffer no ill effects from eating these same foods. "Food Allergy," booklet No. 106, by Dr. Barton, tells how to discover the offending foods and what to do about them. You may obtain this booklet by sending ten cents for each booklet to The Bell Library, 247 West 43rd street, New York, N. Y., mentioning the name of this paper.

Assey Mayo, Cape Cod divorcee, hides her husband's body in her house. Her looms these facts: Pam found $50,000 worth of antiques which Marina tried to claim, and hid it after discovering Marina dead in the garage, someone who smokes Turkish tobacco had suggested Pam's story to learn the whereabouts of the antiques; Pam found $50,000 worth of antiques which Marina tried to claim, and hid it after discovering Marina dead in the garage, someone who smokes Turkish tobacco had suggested Pam's story to learn the whereabouts of the antiques; Pam found $50,000 worth of antiques which Marina tried to claim, and hid it after discovering Marina dead in the garage, someone who smokes Turkish tobacco had suggested Pam's story to learn the whereabouts of the antiques.

Chapter 12

Footprints

It was a quarter to nine that same morning, just as Assey poured himself a third cup of coffee, that the side gate clicked and the ample figure of his cousin Syl Mayo's wife came in view.

Assey sighed. Jennie was a dear, kind thing, and while few women could equal her cooking, few also could equal her curiosity.

He would, at least, hear all the details. Jennie was on the twenty-one telephone line, and if Jennie was up to par, she should have at least twenty-one versions of Marina Lorne's murder.

"My, my! Jennie ran true to form. My Assey, ain't it awful! Who done it, do you know? I'd like to ring their necks, that's what I'd like to do!"

"You're the first person," Assey remarked, "who's felt the slightest bit of sympathy for Marina Lorne, or the least drop of anger toward the fellow that killed her."

"Marina!" Jennie sniffed. "I'm not talking about Marina Lorne. Marina! Hub. Plain Mary, that's what she is. Mary Hosannah. And she was a—well, she was a bad woman, Assey. Just plain bad. Deserved what she got. Who done it?"

Assey was puzzled. "Done what, the murder?"

"Both the murder. I'm talkin' about them petunias out by your kitchen window here! Who trampled 'em down? I spent all day before yesterday mornin' in the hot sun, Jennie said, 'ettin' in petunias like you always have. An' now they're trampled flat as your sister! I'd like to find the wretch that did it! I'd give him a good piece of my mind—"

"Trampled?" Assey got up. "I didn't know it, Jennie. I seen the petunias yesterday, an' I thought how fine they looked. I was going to tell you how I liked 'em—let me take a look, will you, at this. This is so interesting!"

Jennie's ire was considerably mollified by Assey's solicitude for the trampled plants.

"I thought myself, they looked pretty nice," she said. "Come on—here, see? Of course I can get the car when Syl comes in from quonomet, an' drive it an' get more. They was dear—"

"I'll pay for the next lot," Assey said, "an' while you're up there, you get some cut flowers for yourself. Well, well, that's trampled! It is trampled, ain't it? I think—yes, I think I begin to see, Jennie. It was just as I said. Some body stood out here and watched. He figured it out. Somebody was watching him there in the kitchen. Pam, coming out the bedroom after her bath, must have peeked down and seen the person there. She didn't do downstairs, she was seen out, which on the whole was sensible of her. To let the person know for sure that she was there would not have been so good. Assey knelt down.

"Shut Her Mouth!"

"I wish," he said, "that he hadn't milled around—this earth is so soft, you couldn't get one good print out of the lot. But here—oh, he ducked at something—say—I wonder! I bet it was my knife comin'—"

Jennie stared at him. "You feel all right?" she asked anxiously.

"I'm fine," Assey said. "Fine. An' then he left. An' Pam wrote that note—"

"Pam Frye? Assey Mayo, you are mixed up in this, aren't you?"

"Pam left that note for me," Assey said, "an' then she hid. I just looked up the empty room. Then she slid out, probably while Carr was here. Chances are pretty good that she gave the warden the slip. See? Because she knew about him, an' he didn't know about her. She figured that she'd told me all she could, an' that her being here was dangerous to me, as well as curtailing my comin' and goin'.

Without her around, I'd be a lot freer an' a lot safer. She probably rounded out her thinkin' by feelin' that she had nothin' to lose. An' I guess she's right. I guess, Jennie, she can look out for herself."

"You mean Pam Frye?" Jennie said. "She's a mighty nice girl. Clever, too. She gave the women's club a talk on art last year."

"Jennie, what about flashlights?" Assey said. "How many do you have around the house? Are they all in the chest?"

"All eight," she told him promptly. "I put 'em all eight in the blue chest when I cleaned."

"Then let's see 'em," Assey said. "How many we got now. I know she didn't have a light with her. I think we had three last night, Carr and I."

The eight flashlights were duly accounted for, and Jennie promptly wanted to know why they mattered.

"To prove that a light that flicked off an on," Assey said, "presumably in the spare bedroom, was really a flashlight that our fancy watcher was flickin' to see if he could draw Pam to the window. Probably he was havin' doubts if she was there. We seen the light from the front, an' he was aimin' in the back. It come straight through the dormer, see? Well, if he wanted action, he sure got it. An' certainly, subsequent events ought to be proved to him that I didn't know where she was or where she'd gone. Jennie, your petunias've been pretty helpful—"

"Maybe they have," Jennie said. "I can't make head nor tail of it myself. But I do know one thing. I know you ought to go straight over to Quonomet and shut Nettie Hobbs' mouth, tight. Why, the way she's been talkin'! It's awful."

"What do folks think of the things Nettie says?"

"Those that know Pam, they don't believe Nettie," Jennie said. "But those that don't—well, they ain't got anything else to go by than what Nettie says. It's a shame. My mother used to say that Nettie Hobbs was weaned on sour milk and pickle juice, an' she's right. She's a dour, sour old thing, just the same as the pickle lines in her store window, and now she's got the chance to get back at Pam; she's doin' everything she can. An' you'd ought to stop her."

"She Laughed And Laughed!"

"To get back at Pam? What for?" Assey asked. "What'd Pam ever do to her?"

"Aaron Frye," Jennie said meaningfully, rolling her eyes.

"What about Aaron Frye?"

"Nettie," Jennie said, "she set her cap for him. Of course, they're about of an age, an' Silas Hobbs' been dead for years—poor man, what a life he must have led! Did you know his tombstone says 'At rest—at last' Well, I guess 'At rest' ain't no comfort to him. Aaron Frye's been a widower for nearly nine years. He's a nice refined man—used to be a professor—an' he's a nice lookin' man, an' Pam keeps things up—"

"Do you mean," Assey said, "that on the strength of Pam Frye's meager earnings, she was aimin' to get into the family?"

Jennie nodded. "She don't make much with the Woman's Exchange. I suppose she figured if she could get into the family, Pam or the son-in-law or someone'd keep her, if anything happened to Aaron. Well, of course it was silly. I said so the minute I heard about it last winter. But Aaron Frye's sort of a gentle soul, the kind that can be led into things. You know. No," she added, looking at Assey's jaw, "I don't s'pose you do. Anyway, he's sort of easy goin' an' absent minded, an' if Pam hadn't caught on about it in Virginia, it wasn't until 1918 that Tavernier was licensed in Manhattan. America was really discovered by a stay-up who couldn't sleep. . . . Else what was he doing up at 2.30 in the morning, which was the hour when the cry of 'Land Ho!' was first sounded."

a sentimental sort of actress. . . . She wears miniatures of all the characters she portrays on her bracelet. . . . Tiny, jeweled little ornaments they are, and expensive. . . . Dangling from her wrist at the moment are replicas of Mimi (La Bohème), Marguerite (Faust), Manon (Manon), and "Madame Butterfly." . . . An interesting point is that Hope designs them herself, and then presents the designs to her jeweler. . . . who in turn presents her with the finished article, and the bill.

Toasted Cheese Sticks

6 slices white bread
4 tablespoons butter
1/2 cup grated cheese
1/4 teaspoon salt
Place bread slices on a flat surface. Discard the crusts and cut each slice into strips a fourth of an inch thick. Carefully spread with the rest of the ingredients, combined. Arrange in a shallow pan and toast until well-browned.

Fish Medley Salad

1 cup crabmeat
1/2 cup shrimp
1/2 cup lobster
1/2 cup diced celery
2 tablespoons chopped onion
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1/2 cup tomato juice
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1/2 cup tomato juice
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1/2 cup tomato juice

Mix half of the mayonnaise with the rest of the ingredients. Chill. Serve in cups of lettuce and top with the rest of the mayonnaise. Garnish with ripe olives.

Charleston Sunshine Cake

6 egg yolks
1 1/2 cups granulated sugar
1/2 cup white sugar
1/2 cup white sugar
1/2 cup white sugar
1/2 cup white sugar
1/2 cup white sugar
1/2 cup white sugar
1/2 cup white sugar
1/2 cup white sugar

Beat yolks for three minutes. Add sugar and beat for two minutes. Add the rest of the ingredients and mix just enough to hold the ingredients together. (Do not beat.) Pour into an ungreased tube pan and bake in a very slow oven for 50 minutes. Invert the pan until the cake is cool and then carefully remove it. (Note: Sift the sugar three times and the flour four times before measuring it.)

Names Elbridge, Eldridge Have Different Meanings

Differing by only one letter and sounding so much alike that it is difficult to distinguish them from each other, the names Elbridge and Eldridge nevertheless have entirely different meanings, writes Florence A. Cowles in the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Elbridge is of Anglo Saxon origin and means "dweller at the little bridge," a place name which was first a surname and is now also used as a given name.

Elbridge Gerry (1744-1814) was a signer of the Declaration of Independence, governor of Massachusetts and vice president of the United States. His name gave rise to the political term gerrymander, denoting an unfair division of electoral districts. When governor, he signed a bill dividing the state into new senatorial districts bringing many Federalist votes into one district. One of the districts was shaped like a huge salamander and someone coined for it the word gerrymander.

Elbridge T. Gerry (1837-1927) grandson of the foregoing, was lawyer and philanthropist, founder of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children.

Eldridge has two origins and two meanings. Its Teutonic meaning is "mature counselor" and its Anglo Saxon meaning, "fearful, terrible," related to the adjective eldritch.

Eldridge is another form of Eldred or Eldredge and related on the Teutonic side to the word elder.

Bible Facts

All book-lovers read the Bible for the beautiful, dignified English it contains, if for no deeper reason, says London Tit-Bits Magazine. Men who have made a very careful analysis of the Bible say that it contains 2,565,480 letters, 810,697 words, 31,175 verses, 1,189 chapters, and 66 books. The word "and" occurs no fewer than 46,627 times and the word "Lord" 1,538 times. Those who order their lives by the Bible did not choose a better set of practical instructions. The Book of Proverbs contains the sanest advice on behavior ever given to man. In the earlier books there are rules for eating and drinking, for sowing crops and the maintenance of bodily health. Historically, it is accurate; it contains a comprehensive list of the flora and fauna of Palestine and the surrounding countries, their merchandise and mineral products.

Capital of the republic of Andorra is Andorra, a village of about 700 population.

We know a man who shed tears at his daughter's marriage.

Don't Let Constipation Drag On!

Do you often have days when you wake up tired—when you feel dull, "all bogged down"? It's time you did something about it. And something more than just taking a physic! You should get at the cause of the trouble! If you eat what most people do—just bread, meat, potatoes—chances are that just this fact is responsible: you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean a lot of food. It means a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines that helps a bowel movement. If this is your trouble, what you need is crisp crunchy Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast. It contains "bulk" plus Nature's own intestinal tonic, vitamin B. Eat it every day, drink plenty of water, and get it your old sparkle doesn't come back. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

MEN AGAINST DEATH: Scientists Risk Lives In Montana Studies To Save Others From Bite Of Fever Tick

Forty years ago physicians in the west were puzzled by a disease which brought on a high fever, killed many Indians and white men. Research revealed in 1906, that it was caused by tiny ticks which came out in the spring after hibernating, filled with poison for man and beast. They named the disease Rocky Mountain spotted fever.

More years of research by private and public agencies followed, and in 1932 the United States Public Health Service took over a laboratory at Hamilton, Mont., to study the tick and seek means of combating the disease.

Dr. R. R. Parker, in charge of the laboratory, says the disease has been reported in 40 of the 48 states. In places it is fatal; in others less dangerous. Last year 368 cases were reported.

Enough vaccine is manufactured each year to immunize about 100,000 persons. Most of it goes to people whose work puts them in danger of tick bites, such as woodchoppers, sheepherders, cowboys.

Eight persons working with the ticks have died of the fever.

1. These are the ticks which cause Rocky Mountain spotted fever. This sketch in the government laboratory at Hamilton, Mont., shows how they wait on grass for a suitable host, man or beast, on which to attach themselves.

2. This man is gathering ticks for study and manufacture of vaccine. He drags a white flannel cloth through the tick-infested grass. They cling to it until later they are picked off in the laboratory. Boots protect the man.

3. The black specks in this rabbit's ears and around his eye are fever ticks—put there to feed until they are ready to be made into vaccine. Guinea pigs are used as subjects when the time comes to test the purity of the prepared vaccine.

4. Scientists in the laboratory study the life and habits of the ticks in search of a way to exterminate them. Here Entomologist R. A. Cooley is using photographic equipment he and an associate invented for this purpose.

5. After the ticks have acquired the proper maturity, they are pulverized and made into vaccine. This is a mortar and electrically operated pestle used for that in the government laboratory at Hamilton.

6. There is enough virus in these flasks, with which Dr. Herald R. Cox is working, to kill several million people. Thus the scientists daily risk their lives to manufacture the vaccine which may save the lives of others.

EDGAR W. WEAL, BALTIMORE, MD., TELLS A STORY THAT "ALMOST" HAD AN UNHAPPY ENDING

YOU CAN HELP AVOID SMASH-UP THIS WAY

"Safest in the world" applies to American cars...not to American drivers. To protect yourself against the careless driver, you need two things. First, brakes that stop quickly—to keep you from getting into a jam. Second, gasoline that starts quickly—to help you get out of a jam.

Richfield is that kind of gasoline. Its quick pick-up helps you avoid smash-up. So, drive carefully and...switch to richer Richfield! Switch to richer Richlube All-Weather Motor Oil, too. With these partners in power, you—and your family—can feel safer on today's much-travelled highways!

evening the court was entertained by vocal selections by Mrs. Marion Hudner.

District Grand Royal Matron Budington gave a very interesting address and a talk by the assistant grand lecturer was enjoyed. A reception followed the meeting and refreshments were enjoyed. A number of guests

from other districts were present.

Thomas Jefferson's Versatility

Summing up his versatility in other fields, one writer observes in part that when Thomas Jefferson "spoke of law one immediately thought him a lawyer; when he talked of mechanics you thought him an engineer; at the mention of medicine one

was sure he was a doctor, and in a discussion of literature your mind was made up that he was a college professor." Fifty years to the day after the signing of the Declaration of Independence, Jefferson died at his request this simple inscription was placed on his tombstone: "Here was buried Thomas

Jefferson, author of the Declaration of Independence, of the Statute of Virginia for religious freedom and

father of the University of Virginia."

EASY TO ENTER—EASY TO WIN—Write YOUR Eight Rules for Safe Driving

MANY different suggestions for driving behavior have been written and published. But what are YOUR 8 Rules for Safe Driving? What are the 8 Rules that you think assure the greatest safety in driving a motor car?

You can write these 8 Rules easily in

1. Never drive a car when sleepy or overtired.
2. Always keep to the right and you'll seldom go wrong.
3. Dim your headlights when passing a car.

Remember, these are not actual prize-winning Rules. They only show how easy it is to write your own 8 RULES FOR SAFE DRIVING.

How to Join Tydol's Crusade

To help you in Tydol's Safe Driving Contest, Tide Water Associated Oil Company has prepared 8 brief booklets that contain a great many facts which will help you in writing your 8 Rules for Safe Driving.

Each booklet also contains a numbered coupon. Booklet No. 1 contains Coupon No. 1. Booklet No. 2 contains Coupon No. 2—and so on. There are 8 coupons in all and you write your 8 Rules for Safe Driving on these coupons. See Instruction No. 3.

Be sure and get these valuable coupons and remember the booklets containing them are FREE. And you do not have to make a purchase to get these booklets.

Entry Blanks are FREE to All

To enter the Tydol Crusade Contest all you have to do is to stop at any TYDOL-VEEDOL DEALER'S and ask for Crusade Booklets Nos. 1, 2, and 3. In all booklets you will find an Entry Blank which should be mailed immediately! Read each booklet carefully, clip and your own language. You can write them simply because no Safety Rule should be more than 25 words. This is not a literary contest. . . . Writing skill does not count.

For illustration, here are 3 Sample Safety Rules:

1. Never drive a car when sleepy or overtired.
2. Always keep to the right and you'll seldom go wrong.
3. Dim your headlights when passing a car.

Remember, these are not actual prize-winning Rules. They only show how easy it is to write your own 8 RULES FOR SAFE DRIVING.

hold the Safety Rule Coupon—and then start thinking about 8 Rules for Safe Driving.

Then, next week, stop at any TYDOL-VEEDOL DEALER'S and get Booklet No. 4. Read this booklet, clip the coupon and keep it, and continue thinking about the "8 Rules" you will write. Follow this procedure until you have received 8 different booklets and saved 8 coupons numbered from 1 to 8. Then you are ready to write your 8 Rules for Safe Driving. The Contest Instructions tell you everything else you need to know.

THIS CONTEST IS LIMITED TO RESIDENTS OF
NEW ENGLAND STATES
NEW YORK NEW JERSEY
PENNSYLVANIA
DELAWARE MARYLAND
VIRGINIA
DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

ENTER NOW—NO RED TAPE—NOTHING TO BUY

Read These Simple Contest Instructions

1. The Tydol Safe Driving Contest is open to all persons residing in the New England States, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, and District of Columbia, except employees or dealers or dealer's employees of Tide Water Associated Oil Company and their families, or employees of its advertising and sales promotion agencies and their families. To enter the Contest, simply mail in the Entry Blank which may be secured without obligation from any dealer in Tydol Gasoline and Veedol Motor Oil.
2. The purpose of the Contest is to promote Safe Driving. To this end, the Crusade asks you to write your 8 Rules for Safe Driving. These 8 Rules will help cut down the appalling number of fatal accidents on our highways and streets. Each contestant is to submit his 8 Rules on 8 Official Coupons. These Coupons are contained in booklets which are distributed free of all cost and obligation by all Tydol-Veedol dealers.
3. To secure your Coupons, call each week for 8 weeks on your neighborhood Tydol-Veedol dealer, and receive the free Safe Driving Booklet for that week, which contains the Safe Rule Coupon for that week. Save each week's Coupon until you have all 8 Coupons. Read each week's booklet on Safe Driving until you have read all 8 booklets. Then, from the helpful information you find in the 8 Safe Driving Booklets, and from your own and your friends' experience in driving, fill out the 8 Coupons, writing one Safe Driving Rule on each Coupon. No Rule is to exceed 25 words in length.
4. Neatness does not count in this Contest, but good ideas do. Just be yourself and you'll be original. Each one of your Safety Rules should contain one idea to promote Safe Driving. Simply write down each Rule in simple English.
5. Do not hesitate to seek the advice of friends, teachers or experienced drivers. Their help may help you win the Contest. But each Safety Rule should be written in your own original words.
6. Enclose your 8 Safety Rule Coupons, each one fully filled out, in one envelope, and mail it to Tydol Safety Contest, P. O. 440, Grand Central Annex, New York City, N. Y. Contest closes midnight, July 7th, 1938. Safety Rule Coupons contained in envelope postmarked with a later date will not be eligible.
7. Tide Water Associated Oil Company will pay a first prize of $25,000.00 and 684 other cash prizes aggregating a total sum of $50,000.00 to the contestants who submit, in the opinion of the judges, the best list of 8 Safety Rules. The judges' decision will be final. In case of ties, duplicate prizes will be awarded.
8. A contestant is privileged to enter more than one set of 8 Rules but is eligible to win one prize only. Tide Water will not be responsible for Entry Blanks or Safety Rule Coupons lost in the mail. Its fairness to all contestants, Tide Water cannot enter into individual correspondence with any individual.
9. All Safety Rules submitted are to become the sole property of Tide Water Associated Oil Company, including all publishing rights.

TYDOL'S PROMISE TO YOU!

Tide Water Associated Oil Company, in its 60 years of service to the American public, has earned a goodwill that always zealously protects it. It is Tide Water's concern for this goodwill that assures every contestant the fairest and most responsible treatment.

We pledge that each and every set of 8 Rules for Safe Driving will be read and considered by a nationally-known, independent organization skilled in Contest work. Finally, your 8 Safety Rules will be judged by a group of men whose special fitness to deal with the subject of "Safe Driving" is beyond question. All contestants will be notified as to results of Contest after its close. Help the cause of Safe Driving. Get your Entry Blank at any Tydol-Veedol dealer's today.

While there, may we suggest a trial of the new Tydol Gasoline? This modern motor fuel has the highest anti-knock rating in Tydol history, and sells at regular price.

Kerhonkson Union School Activities

Kerhonkson, May 18—This

week pupils are busily planning

their schedules for next year's work. Commercial work and science seem to be most popular for major sequences. Physics will be added to the curriculum and the Board of Education has authorized an expenditure for additional equipment. Only those with a satisfactory grade in freshman

science will be allowed to enter

the course. It is planned to continue on a larger scale the remed-ial reading classes which were begun this year. As a result of standardized tests it was found

that from one-third to one-half of the students entering high school

are deficient in reading scales. It is only when these deficiencies

are overcome that the pupil has

a fair opportunity to achieve success in high school.

Two new clubs will be offered

next year during the activity

period from 3:05 to 3:45 p. m.

These are: A girls' tennis club,

supported by Miss Sniffen and a

Nature Club in charge of Mr.

Braun.

Laura Gutkin was awarded

first place in a spelling contest

which was conducted to choose a representative for the competition

at Ellenville on May 27. The winner of this contest will compete in the county finals.

The recent elections held for

the selection of advisors for the classes of 1938-39 are as follows:

Seniors, Miss Sniffen; juniors,

Miss White; sophomores, Mrs.

Traver.

Marjorie Lane was selected by the Student Council to have general charge of arrangements for moving-up day Friday, May 27.

In the afternoon, she will be assisted by Shirley Snyder for

per cent of the total loss each

year.

Gasoline and kerosene fires

cause a loss of approximately $6-

000,000 a year on the farms of the United States, according to the Bureau of Chemistry and Soils of

the United States Department of Agriculture. They are sixth

among the causes of farm fires

and are responsible for 5 to 7

per cent of the total loss each

year.

The Valuedictorian for this year's class is Shirley Snyder,

salutatorian, Aaron Fisher. Those receiving honorable mention were

With soil erosion adding to highway maintenance costs from Maine to California, plans to cut down this damage are being developed cooperatively by the Soil Conservation Service and the highway department of 32 states.

PILOT'S BODY REMOVED FROM PLANE WRECKAGE

The body of Sid Willey, pilot of the new Lockheed transport plane which crashed with terrible impact on a mountainside near Los Angeles, Calif., is shown being carried from the wreckage. Nine persons lost their lives in the disaster. In the background can be seen a crowd of people viewing the remains of the ship which cost $80,000.

COUPLE ABOARD ILL FATED PLANE

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Salisbury (above) of St. Paul, Minn., and their two young children were passengers on a transport plane which crashed in mountains near Los Angeles, enroute to the Twin Cities, killing all nine persons on board. Salisbury formerly lived in Syracuse, N. Y., and Mrs. Salisbury was the former Betty E. Carle of New York city.

Several Cases in Police Court

Mrs. Mamie Glenn, a negress, of 24 Catherine street, was arrested Wednesday evening on a charge of public intoxication, following a fight she had with another negress, which resulted in the plate glass window of Jack's Market, Union and Ann street, being broken. The window was valued at $60. This morning in police court the negress pleaded guilty to the charge and was fined $10. Her husband, who is employed on the WPA, was present in court and said he would make good for the damage to the window.

William E. Myers, of Albany, arrested for passing a red traffic light, at Wall and North Front streets, failed to appear to answer the charge today and his cash bail of $5 was forfeited.

Frank Principe, of 444 Washington avenue, arrested by his brother, Louis, who charged Frank with public intoxication, pleaded not guilty and furnished $10 bail for his hearing later.

James Clark, a negro of 47 1/2 Van Buren street, was fined $3 for public intoxication. He said this was the first time he had ever been arrested.

Twentieth Century Club Closes Season

Twenty-five members attended the dinner of the Twentieth Century Club at Maple Arch Farms at Hurley Wednesday evening, which marked the closing of the club's activities for this season.

The tables were attractively decorated with yellow snapdragons which were later presented to the retiring president, Mrs. E. O. Allen, Globes of the world, representing the year's study of "World Affairs," and individual yellow baskets of nuts and candy and small American flags, also added to the decorations and festive air. The place cards, made by Mrs. George Koenig, showed a replica of the world.

The toastmistress, Mrs. R. H. D. Boerker, kept a feeling of good humor prevailing by her introductions of each person and the famous questions asked concerning the country about which the individual's paper had been written during the year. The answers were as equally amusing and entertaining.

This was followed by a contest in naming people shown in pictures of events of the day. Mrs. William Ellinger later accompanied the group singing.

Those attending the closing dinner meeting were Mrs. E. O. Allen, Miss Ella Bernard, Mrs. H. D. Boerker, Mrs. W. J. Cranton, Mrs. C. B. Dickinson, Mrs. T. H. Edmondson, Mrs. W. S. Eltinge, Mrs. J. C. Fraser, Miss Sarah W. Hasbrouck, Miss Mary K. Husted, Miss Mary H. Inzall, Mrs. George E. Koenig, Mrs. Maynard Mizel, Miss Frances J. Oystendou, Mrs. Robert L. Sleson, Mrs. Elmer Smith, Mrs. S. M. Taylor, Mrs. B. C. Van Ingen, Mrs. Elmer Van Tassel, Mrs. Harry B. Walker, Mrs. G. A. Whitford, Mrs. G. N. Wood, Miss Schoonmaker, a guest, Mrs. W. N. Fessenden, and Miss Ella M. Millham.

Dance Revue by Weyhe Pupils

The Emma Riechmann Weyhe School of Dancing will present "Rip Van 'Nickle," a playlet and dance revue on June 10 at the Knights of Columbus Hall. An added attraction will be Bob Steuding's Juvenile Orchestra. Mrs. Weyhe will also present her "Little Dimples" in a novel combination of song and dance routines. Tickets are now on sale for this annual dance revue.

Student Honored

Miss Isabelle Harrison of Ivy, who will be graduated from Johns Hopkins Medical School in June, has been elected a member of Alpha Omega Alpha, honorary medical fraternity. Miss Harrison is a granddaughter of the late F. J. I. Clarke of this city. She was elected a member of Phi Beta Kappa at Vassar College in 1934. Miss Harrison will take up her internship at Johns Hopkins in Baltimore in September.

Y.P.F. Play Cast Progressing

According to the business manager, the cast of the St. John's Young People's Fellowship, which is to present "Among the Stars" on the evening of Monday, May 23, is progressing at every rehearsal. The young people will enter their latest achievement to the general public in St. John's parish house, and a capacity house is expected to be on hand when the lights fade to darkness. Starting time will be 8:15 o'clock sharp.

The action of this play is unusually swift, the story bright and the dialogue of the individual characters moves rapidly to an amusing climax.

The play, "Among the Stars," is a three-act comedy directed by Mrs. Bertrand Bishop. Regardless of the fact that this presenta-

Fat Women Smother in Tight Girdles

Tight girdles and stiff foundation garments actually make many women look fatter. Instead of squeezing your fat, why not have a slim, lovely, youthful figure that needs but little girdle control? The Marmola way is the easy way to get rid of ugly fat caused by an internal deficiency. Marmola Prescription Tablets have been sold to the public for more than thirty years. No other representation is made as to this treatment except under these conditions and according to the dosage as recommended. We do not make any diagnosis as that is the function of your physician, who must be consulted for that purpose. The complete formula is included in every package. To Prevent Simple Goitre—here is a wise precaution you should take to protect your family. The Council on Foods of the American Medical Association
states: "Worcester Iodized Salt
used daily as the only salt on the table and
in cooking richly supplements the iodine
of diets deficient in that element and thus
helps to protect against simple goitre."

Buzzanco Pilots First Air Mail

made attempts to secure authorization for two plane deliveries,
one north and one south, but had been able to secure but one. He could not say definitely just when
the mail sent off this morning
would reach its destination, but it was stated that a letter addressed to San Francisco, for instance, would probably reach
there in about 18 to 20 hours,
whereas mail sent in the regular
way would take at least three days. About 200 pieces of the mail sent off this morning were photographed last night by Pilot Buzzanco.

Cases Waco 10.

The plane used for this initial
air mail trip is a Waco 10 belonging to Perry Relyea of Highland.
It is powered with a 50 HP "A19"
motor, can make about 55 miles
an hour, and with its 40-gallon
tank filled with gas is capable of staying aloft about three hours.
The pilot, John Buzzanco, who
is regularly employed as a truck
driver by the board of public works, has been flying since 1921.
He holds a temporary transport license and for the flight this morning had been granted a special air-mail license. He said that he expected to land at Floyd Bennett field at about 11:30. He receives no remuneration for making the trip except the pleasure of enjoying his hobby of flying
and the honor of piloting the first air-mail plane to leave Kingston.

Traffic Light on Broadway, Henry

to regulate southbound traffic,
while the other traffic standard is placed in front of Lehigh grocery
to regulate northbound traffic.

The traffic lights are similar to those installed on Abeel and Wurts street at the entrance to the Rondout creek bridge. Traffic desiring to enter Broadway from Henry street or O'Neil
street, trip a plate placed in the roadway, which turns the lights
on Broadway red.

The fact that the new lights
had been installed and were operating on Broadway at Henry
street had not been announced
and the majority of auto drivers
were unaware of the lights, making
it necessary to station a traffic officer on duty. The lights are turned off at midnight and
turned on again early in the morning.

The world's gasoline consumption last year was a record. It is officially estimated that it took 2,015,000,000 barrels of crude oil
to supply the gasoline needs and
each barrel contained 42 gallons.

Stewards of the George A. Hamid Methodist Church To Meet on Friday

WILLIAM E. SHAW

The Methodist Churches of the Kingston District, comprising the 115 churches in the counties of Ulster, Greene, Delaware, Scho-
harie and Albany, will hold its District Stewards meeting on Friday
in the Clinton Avenue M. E.
Church.

The usual temporal matters of
the church will be taken care of
and in addition there will be addresses by visiting ministers and laymen. Among the speakers will be Dr. William E. Shaw, corresponding secretary of the Board
of Foreign Missions and the Rev.
Charles F. Johannaber of China.

The meeting opens at 10:30
o'clock Friday morning and there will be an afternoon session. The public is invited to attend all the sessions.

The Rev. Dr. William E. Shaw
has been a member of the Board
of Foreign Missions since 1924,
and was elected one of its two
executive officers by the General Conference of the Church in 1935.
He has visited the Orient as a member of the board and is conversant with the work of Methodist missionaries throughout the world.

For 35 years he has been one
of the outstanding pastors in the Methodist Church and a leader in its General Conferences. He is a man who will have a message well
worth hearing.

The Rev. Charles Frederick Johannaber is one of the outstanding missionaries and educators of the Methodist Church in China. He has been in China since 1915, all of that time in the inland city of Kiangsi, on the inbanks of the Yangtze river, 450
miles from Shanghai. Here he is the district missionary of Kiang-
si district, constantly itinerating
among the churches and Chinese
pastors, and overseeing the work
of the schools.

He is also the director of
evangelism and religious education for the Kiangsi Conference,
and has charge of religious work
at the noted William Nass College. He was at one time president of the college, and for some years its professor of English and
of religion, and has sent hundreds
of its graduates into teaching and
church service, and into governmental and business throughout
this section of China.

Ra, Sun-God of Egyptians

The sun-god of the ancient Egyptians was Ra, the principal personification of the supreme being; the Pharaohs maintained they were his descendants. In Greek mythology, Helios was the sun-god, son of Hyperion and Theia. Valhalla was never an object of worship; in Norse
mythology it is the hall of the slain, the palace of immortality
whither, by direction of Odin, the souls of the slain were borne to immortality by the valkyries.

nois. Mr. Hamid said he also had oral contracts for the bear
act to appear. Since the accident
in September the act had not played he said and he had not paid the Waldorfs any money, in fact they had borrowed money
from him.

Mr. Hamid said he knew that the George A. Hamid Enterprises, Inc., were defendants in an action brought by George A. Hamid, Inc., and Walldorf brothers. The action he said he had learned of
through his office force but he had no knowledge of the action being settled and he did not know the action brought by George A. Hamid, Inc., against George A. Hamid, Inc., had been discontinued. He had known that the defendant
corporation with being negligent
in the operation of the vehicle on which the bear was. No consent
had been given by him, as president of the George A. Hamid, Inc., company to discontinue the actions. Mr. Hamid started to say something about the insurance company but did not complete his answer.

In Booking Business 17 Years

Mr. Hamid said his companies
had been in the booking business
for 17 years and were considered
among the outstanding companies of the country in this field. The George A. Hamid Enterprises, Inc., were owners of the trucks on which George A. Hamid, Inc., sell out acts on the road. The trucks, several in number, were 1932 Chevrolet and were owned by the Enterprises who also hired the drivers. His office force was large and included many employees
in addition to the salesmen on the road. He first learned of the accident at Highland through his office by phone. At the time he was on the road.

A catalogue of 1938 attractions
offered by George A. Hamid, Inc., included the Boxing Bear Teddy
act. The catalogue was in the process of being printed in October and November of 1937
shortly after the bear was injured. At the time he said he did not know the act could not be supplied.

Cross examined by Mr. Broderick for defense, Mr. Hamid said
one of the contracts for production of the bear act this summer
had been signed a few days after
the present series of law suits
were commenced. At the time he knew actions for damages were
being brought by the owners of
the bear and also his own corporations because of the injuries
which the bear suffered and because the bear refused now to perform.

Much of the details of the transactions were carried on by
his office employees and he had no
personal knowledge of many facts.
He was unable to say what truck
was involved in the accident at Highland or whether the truck
now being used to bring the bear
to Kingston were the same
vehicles.

Jurors not engaged on the case
were excused until Friday morning and no additions were made to the day calendar. Justice Schirick warned counsel in cases
on the day calendar that he would expect them to be ready at the conclusion of the cases now on trial.

Discovery of Gold in Alaska

Gold was first discovered in Alaska in 1848, in the gravels of Kenai
river by P. P. Doroshin, a Russian mining engineer who was then making an examination of the mineral resources of the district for the Russian-American company. In 1850 and 1851 Doroshin, with a working force of 14 men, prospected
the gravels of two streams entering Kenai river between Kenai and Sik-lak lakes and those of a third
stream tributary to the latter lake.
Gold was found nearly everywhere
in the gravels examined, but not in commercial quantities at that time.

"Black Sheep" Hawk Is

General Trouble-Maker

A few "black sheep" species of
hawks are to blame for the bad
reputation of the whole family.

Most hawks are moderate in their appetites, beneficial to farmers and models of upright avian behavior in their other activities, according to a monograph on North American
birds of prey by Arthur Cleveland Rent, issued by the Smithsonian institution.

A few hawks appear to be un-
mitigated scoundrels who kill wantonly—almost for sport. Others only kill to eat.

Some, such as the marsh hawk,
seem to delight in cruelty for its own sake and will play with a victim much as a cat plays with a mouse. Thus one case was reported
where a marsh hawk was observed
to drop a horned lark which it had captured seven or eight times and
each time pounce on it again.

This particular bird is very pugnacious and does not hesitate to attack a man who ventures close to its nest. "I have had them dash at
my head repeatedly," says Bent,
"and keep it up as long as I was anywhere near the nest." One case is noted where such a hawk attacked a man a mile away. The bird is an intolerant, aggressive and pugnacious defender of its home territory, as everyone knows who has ever attempted to invade its pr-
cincts.

One of the "good hawks" is the common red-shouldered hawk of the eastern United States and southern Canada.

Among all the birds of prey, Bent
says, it is the great home lover.
Pairs presumably are mated for life.
One such couple will appropriate a certain territory, such as a small woodland, fight off zealously any trespassers, and build their nests
there every spring for nearly half a century.

Time and effort expended to effect a saving of a nickel here and a penny there, is often a source of loss instead of gain. Shopping around for an hour in the hope of saving a few cents on a trivial purchase is one example of this. Another is to buy an inferior article when a good one would cost but little more.

MARLBOROUGH

Marlborough, May 18—Last Wednesday at the last meeting of the Marlborough Parent-Teacher Association for this term, election and installation of officers was held. Charles Zacharie Rogers was elected president and he succeeded Mrs. Andrew Knapp, who has served as president for the two years. He will be assisted by Mrs. Raymond Linsig as vice president. Mrs. Raymond Schoonmaker as secretary and Mrs. Charles Follis as treasurer. Mrs. Howard Barton as chairman of the new county director, who is the incoming officers. Three delegates who had attended conference gave their reports. Mrs. Edgar M. Clarke reported on conference recently held in Ithaca on "Family Life." She spoke briefly on the economic situation, education, counseling and legislation, which various speakers had discussed at the conference. Mrs. Adelaide Wilkins of Ithaca, who had represented both the Marlborough and Milton P.T. at the recent 12th annual New York state convention at Ithaca, gave a report on the "Education and Democratic Living of Our Young People." Miss Muriel Hall reported on a safety campaign which she had attended in Newburgh. Mrs. Dykema's class, fourth grade, again won the attendance banner, this being the eighth time out of nine. The P.T. voted to treat the class to a small party.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank DeGeorge and sons, Charles and Frank, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Marks and daughter, Mary, spent Sunday in New York city at the finish line at the New York marathon. While there they had the pleasure of seeing Kate Smith, who was a guest at the DeGeorge household.

The Kindergarten Mothers' Club held a successful food sale Wednesday following the P.T.A. meeting in the school. Food was donated by mothers. Mrs. John Gow was chairman of the sale, and was assisted by other members of the Mothers' Club. Harry Lyons and family of Newburgh will move shortly into the house of Jesse Edwards on Kingston street. Mr. Lyons is owner of the Marlborough Diner on Main street.

Mrs. George Sutter, Sr., who is seriously ill in her home, was reported as slightly better the first of the week.

Margaret, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew McCourt, is slowly recovering from scarlet fever in her home on the south road.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Zacharie Rogers recently entertained Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Lawlor of New Rochelle. Mrs. Lawlor was the champion amateur woman golfer for the United States during 1935-36.

Dr. William Coombe and Dr. B. Meloniou were guest speakers in the local Presbyterian Church on Mother's Day. Both speakers delivered sermons appropriate to the day. Dr. Coombe is retired from active ministry although he is conducting services in the Ellenville Presbyterian Church. Dr. Meloniou is a teacher of religious education for young people in Biblical Seminary, New York city.

The State Education Department has granted Marlborough Central High School permission to give credit for music courses. This included orchestra and glee club work. A letter informing Principal Edward L. Dalby of the fact came from Dr. Knox, acting director of Examinations and Inspections Division of the State Department. Glee Club work has been underway for several years, but orchestra instruction was only started in September with the coming of J. Collins Lingo, music supervisor.

Wilbur J. Haviland spent Monday in Kingston. Miss Lily Benjamin of St. Luke's Hospital, Newburgh, spent the week-end at the home of her parents, the Misses Mattie and Conella Valentine.

Mrs. John Nicklin and son, John, are recovering from mumps.

Quizzed in Kidnaping

Daniel Plechas, (above), 23-year-old paroled convict, was questioned in New York city in connection with the unsolved kidnaping and slaying of Charles Mattison, 10, of Tacoma, Wash. Plechas denied he had ever been in Washington.

Gerard Maier, of the school faculty, is driving a new Ford sedan.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Lynch and Miss Martha Poyer of Brooklyn spent last Sunday in town. Miss Margaret Quimby of Suffern spent the week-end at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Quimby.

Mr. and Mrs. Christie Tuthill spent the week-end at their camp at Lake Wannasink, Sullivan county.

Miss Camilla Scilla of Newark, N. J., spent the week-end at the home of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Scilla, of the South road.

Miss Elizabeth Pesavento Weds. Marlborough, May 18.—On Saturday evening at 6 o'clock, Miss Elizabeth Pesavento, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pesavento, became the bride of Pasquale Spignardo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pasquale Spignardo, of New Windsor, near Newburgh. The ceremony was performed in St. Mary's Church, with the pastor, the Rev. James Mauley, performing the ceremony. The bride wore a gown of white net over satin with a tulle veil which hung from a crown of orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of gardenias and lilies of the valley. She was attended by her sister, Miss Mary Pesavento, who wore a gown of pink net over tulle and carried pink roses and sweet peas. Sebastian Ochietti was best man.

Mrs. Pesavento, mother of the bride, wore black and yellow crepe print and a corsage of yellow roses. The groom's mother wore London tan crepe with a corsage of white roses. A wedding supper was served in the Tall-Ho Inn, just south of the village for about 40 relatives and friends. Mr. and Mrs. Spignardo left for a wedding trip to Washington, D. C. after which they will make their home in Newburgh.

"Firemen's Quadrille" Rehearsal. On the night of June 15, 18, in the Crystal palace in New York city, Louis Jullien and his orchestra presented "The Firemen's Quadrille." Suddenly and without warning, windows crashed, flames burst through the roof, fire bells rang and scores of firemen rushed in and turned on hoses. It was realistic, says Collier's Weekly, that many were faint. Four years later, oddly enough, the palace was destroyed by fire.

The number of cattle on farms January 1, 1938, is estimated by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics at 65,930,400 head, a reduction of 518,001 head, or 0.8 percent, from a year earlier.

Famous Steamer, Robert E. Lee, Ruined in Race

Although the Robert E. Lee was the most famous boat on the Mississippi river, her race with the Natchez June 31 to July 4, 1870, unfitted her for much future service. The driving trip against the speed of the Natchez did not injure her machinery, but she was so badly shaken up she had to be placed on the marine ways at Mounds, Ill., for a general overhauling before she could re-enter her run from New Orleans to Vicksburg.

The Natchez returned to New Orleans from St. Louis and, although she had been beaten, she served shippers in the lower river trade several years before being dismantled.

Old government records in the offices of the United States steamboat inspectors' office at Memphis show the Lee sank opposite Natchez, Miss., December 21, 1870, just six months after winning her race, writes Joe Curtis in Memphis Commercial Appeal.

It was a cold stormy morning when the Lee collided with the steamer Potomac and injured her so badly she was beached on a sandbar by her pilot and there she sank in nine feet of water. So far as known, this was the only accident to the first Robert E. Lee.

She was raised a few days later and sent to the ways. After being repaired she resumed her regular runs and remained in service until 1876, when she was taken to Louisville and dismantled. Her machinery was placed on a new Robert E. Lee and her hull towed to Vicksburg, where it became a wharf-boat.

Kuvasz Hunting Dog Was Product of Transylvania

The Kuvasz dog was originated sometime in the fifteenth century by nobility of Transylvania and was used for hunting in the mountains of that country. For the last few centuries the breed has been used extensively in Hungary as a shepherd and is often referred to as the "Hungarian Sheepdog," according to George Berner in the Washington Post.

In disposition, they are very friendly, will never pick a fight with man or animal but when aroused or when they are guarding the flock they can be vicious and well able to give a good account of themselves.

The word "Kuvasz" means "Armed Guard." The breed is uniform in type and general appearance. They are either white or ivory in color. The coat is long and wavy and the tail is carried low, even when the dog is excited. When grown they are about 27 inches at the shoulder and weigh about 100 pounds.

A large, powerful, muscular dog, he is keen to his surroundings, always on the alert and ever ready to be of service in guarding his master or his master's property.

Discovery in Athens

"I am the boundary stone of the agora," reads the inscription on a marker which helps determine the limits of the Athenian market place of the Sixth century B. C. Its height is approximately four feet and it is a foot thick and four inches wide. The personified inscription is cut with carefully made archaic letters across the top edge and down the right side. The white marble post was found standing erect in its original position, just under a roadbed containing pottery of the Fifth century.

CAMERA 'BOMBING' used in mock air raid and "blackout" of Farmingdale, Long Island, is illustrated by Maj. George Goddard of Army Air corps. Pictures taken by bombers, after parachute flares lit the targets, indicated perfect "hits."

COLOSSAL IN A MUSSOLINI WAY. a thunderous naval-air battle was staged near Fubara, about 30 miles from Rome, for the benefit of visiting Adolf Hitler. This is the battle at one stage. While Der Fuehrer watched, 28 planes whined through the air, raining bombs on two 23,000-ton condemned merchant ships which were soon surrounded by bursting bombs. Attack by the planes, five of which are shown passing through a simulated anti-aircraft barrage, was led by Bruno Mussolini, son of the premier.

TO TRAP ENEMY PLANES. Britain's Royal Air Force experts developed network of cables carried aloft by three balloons ascending to extreme heights. A ground crew maneuvers the balloon barrier by means of cable winches on trucks.

SPIRIT OF THE PIONEERS stirs again in the blood of settlers in Disney, Okla., tiny boom town which grew so fast near the government's $20,000,000 Grand River dam project in eastern Oklahoma that homes, stores and even the hotel (above) are of unpainted boards. Possibly 5,000 persons will be living there by end of year. It was named for Congressman W. E. Disney.

Fulencio Batista—who distributed government-owned lands as part of his three-year rehabilitation plan for Cuba—was Mrs. Angela Guluza (above), 56, a widow. To share in Batista's plan to uplift agriculture, farmers had to be needy and capable. In ceremony at Mariel, Batista also distributed farm implements.

That's what home owners say about the Model P Petro & Nokoi Oil Burner. For no other burner has "Tubular Atomization" that produces a quiet, more efficient soft flame combustion, resulting in greater heat release in the burning of the fuel.

Built for small home heating plants, this Petro & Nokoi knows just how to squeeze every drop of fuel oil heat-dry. It's a "chiseler" that trims fuel oil bills.

Floating Islands Made

on Planted Stick Rafts
Most of us are familiar with that phenomenon, the Hanging Gardens of Babylon. Less famous, but still spectacular, are the Floating Gardens of Mexico City.

According to an article in Horticulture, a tribe of Indians attempted to establish themselves on land already occupied. This happened many decades before the Spaniards came to Mexico. The ancient band, unable to settle among the unfriendly natives, decided to make their home on a neighborhood island. To accommodate their growing people, they constructed other islands that floated about on the lake. The "floating islands" were made on planted rafts of sticks and vines. The interlacing twigs formed a mat, which they covered with a layer of earth. Thus, their home became a green, growing craft which could be moved about at will with the aid of poles.

The new settlers planted their trees and crops and built up a civilization of their own. As time passed, the tree roots on the moving islands stretched down and anchored themselves.
The islands are stationary. They are alive with colorful flowers and green plantings. Tall trees make a striking silhouette against the sky. Mexicans row to the islands to gather brilliant blossoms, later to sell them to inland visitors. Although the islands are fixed, they are known by the title of Chinampas or Floating islands.

Australians, as a marrying people, are almost unique in the world, having just the same ideas about marriage as they had in 1908. Their marriage rate, according to the latest figures remains at 8.4 per thousand. The only countries with higher rates now are Russia, South Africa, Germany, Denmark and Roumania.

Names of the Months

The names of the months are Roman in origin. January is named for Janus, the two-faced god, who stood at the beginning of things, looking back over the old year and ahead to the new; February, from "Febru," to purify, for the Roman feast of Purification, held on the fifteenth of the month; March, from Mars, the god of war; April, from "Aperio," to open, signifying the opening of the buds; May, for Maia, the mother of Mercury, to whom the pagans offered sacrifice on the first day of that month; June, for Juno, considered queen of Olympus and protectress of women; July, in honor of Julius Caesar, who was born in this month; August, named by Augustus Caesar in his own honor; September, from "septem," meaning seven, as seventh month in the old Roman year which began in March; October, from "octo," eight; November, from "novem," nine; December, from "decem," ten.

The Indeterminate Sentence

The theory of the indeterminate sentence is that it is the prisoner, rather than the crime, that is being tried and sentenced, and every person convicted is permitted and required to work out his own salvation by demonstrating his fitness for release. It is based on the individual's traits and tendencies and on the promise that he apparently has or develops toward adjusting to normal environment and return to society. Where a state has such an indeterminate sentence law, it is the law itself that provides for these minimum and maximum sentences. While many prisoners are paroled at the expiration of the minimum sentence, many others are paroled only after serving the recommended maximum.

Octopus Is Most Feared by Small Sea Creatures

Dreaded by all small sea creatures is the octopus. It likes to hide in crevices on the seabed and lie in wait for unsuspecting crabs and lobsters. Whenever a shellfish is within reach out the long tentacles, quietly but swiftly, to fasten upon the food, and there is very little chance for any sea creature thus caught to escape. The octopus has a powerful, beak-like mouth, and below two uninking eyes, set in a soft body, eight arms, or tentacles, curl restlessly about in the water. These whiplike arms are covered with rows of strong suckers along the undersides, and they hold their victims by suction. When an octopus is sitting in its den the arms are coiled up underneath the body with the suckers outward ready for a pounce.

But one of the strangest facts about the octopus is the way it breathes. Its whole body throbs slowly with breath-beats and water is taken in at the same time to be forced out again through a small, funnel-shaped tube behind its head. The creature swims as it breathes, by taking in water through its gills and forcing it through a tube with a sudden powerful spurt. This sudden rush of water often drives the octopus along in six-foot jerks. To make the journey more comfortable, too, the arms are held together so they trail behind the body—but even then the octopus travels backwards. Thus, in order to go forward, the creature must face opposite to the direction it wants to go.

The Danube River

The Danube river, in the heyday of steamboating just before the coming of railroads, was the only connecting link between the Balkan states of Turkey, Rumania, Bulgaria and Serbia and the Austrian empire. The Danube's first traffic boom was during the Crusades when 2,000 laden craft, bound for the Holy Land proceeded down it at one time. The early Greek merchants knew it and Herodotus called it the "greatest of rivers." For 500 years the Romans ruled it and it is interesting that no single people has controlled it since. A dozen towns along it are mentioned in the Niebelunglied which reflect the early barbarian raids and migrations. During the long Turkish occupation of the lower river traffic was at a standstill, but with their overthrow in the Seventeenth century trade began to revive. In 1817 steam was introduced at a soon the Danube over its 1,600 miles from Regensburg in Bavaria to the Black sea resembled the Mississippi.

Language of Their Own

Evolved by Rail Linemen
Lincoln, Neb.—Railroad linemen through years of usage have developed a picturesque lingo that is generally incomprehensible to others. D. V. Snapp, of Lincoln, writes in the periodical, American Speech. Snapp, employed for 37 years by the Burlington, said one phrase used throughout the Middle West on the railroad system is "Give her Nebraska," which means fill in dirt around a set pole.

Dust Storms Declared to Be Big Menace to Health

Stillwater, Okla.—Dust storms are bringing a major health menace to the people of the three-state "dust bowl" area, Harley A. Daniel, Oklahoma A. & M. agronomist, has warned.
"Unless the weather becomes wetter in the area or the dust blow is stopped," Daniel said, "a widespread development of silicosis, a searing of the lung tissues, will result." He pointed out that the disease in its advanced stages is virtually incurable.
Daniel reported that X-rays of the lungs of 56 residents of the Oklahoma panhandle have revealed "an increase of fibrosis of the lungs with history and findings suggestive of silicosis."

Sentenced to Death

Vienna, May 19 (AP).—Martha Marek, 44-year-old widow convicted of four murders, was sentenced today to death. The sentence did not indicate the method of execution. This raised rumors that the guillotine soon might replace hanging for executions in Austria.

TAUGHT TO ESCAPE FROM SUBMARINES

Navy Instructs Crews How to Use New Device.

Washington.—The danger of being trapped in disabled submarines is being dispelled as a result of improved "escape" methods.
The principal advance has been in the development of the underwater "lung" and the systematic training of submarine crews in its use at the naval bases at New London, Conn., and Pearl Harbor, Hawaii.

The "lung" was perfected by Lieut. Charles B. Morsen of Washington, following the S-4 disaster in which 37 men lost their lives in 1927. Only several years before, about an equal number died when the S-51 was trapped off Block Island, R. I. Lieutenant Morsen, now in charge of experimental diving at the Washington navy yard, said the present "lung" has proved highly satisfactory and, as a result of intensive training among submarine personnel, gave new confidence to the navy's underwater personnel.

Resembles Gas Mask

The "lung" is fastened about the chest and is secured to the body by straps around the neck and waist. A tube extends from the lung to the mouth and a clip is placed over the nose to insure mouth breathing.
The "lung" is charged with oxygen, which is mixed with "used" air discharged from the human lungs. A canister containing lime and soda purifies the carbon dioxide from the lungs before it is mixed with the oxygen and reused.

The training at the 100-foot New London tank, which is virtually identical with that at Pearl Harbor, consists of taking prospective submarine men to various depths and teaching them to ascend at the right speed.

The seaman first enters the water to his shoulders and takes several "practice breaths" with the lung to learn to breathe against pressure. He then descends so that his head is about one foot under water to allow the instructor to see whether the lung is being used properly. If so, he is sent in a diving bell with an instructor to the 12-foot level.

The pupil must escape from the bell and climb up a line which is secured to a buoy at the surface. Half way up the line he must stop and take 30 breaths before ascending further to avoid "the bends."

Deeper and Deeper

The pupil must complete successfully two ascents from the 12-foot level before he is taken to the next stage—the 18-foot lock.
An attempt is made to duplicate conditions aboard a trapped submarine. The lock is flooded in order to equalize outside pressure so that the hatch may be opened. A line with a buoy attached is then sent to the surface and the navy man begins his slow climb, breathing regularly as he climbs and stopping at the halfway mark for 10 breaths. He is warned not to go up faster than 50 feet a second.

From the 50-foot stage the pupil is required to stop at points 20 and 10 feet from the surface, taking 10 breaths at each stop for decompression.

The last stage is the 100-foot level at the bottom of the tank. Here the lock is constructed exactly along lines of a submarine compartment. In cases where the pupils are unable to complete successfully the tests they are transferred to some other division of the navy.

INFANT PLANE CRASH VICTIM

A young rescue worker carries out an ambulance the blanket-wrapped, pitifully broken body of 2 1/2 month old Judith Salisbury, one of the nine victims who lost their lives when a new Lockheed transport plane crashed on a mountainside near Los Angeles, Calif. Her parents and three-year-old brother, Richard, also died in the disaster.

Trading at Low Level Wednesday

In the statement made yesterday regarding the exceptional showing made so far this year by the F. W. Woolworth Co., it should have said that "cumulative sales up to the end of April were 2.5 above those of a year ago" for the same period.

Trading continued at a low level yesterday, volume being 400,000 shares. The industrial stocks showed a gain of 0.66 point in the Dow-Jones averages, closing at 117.02; rails remained unchanged at 22.54; utilities showed a small decline, to 19.54. London and Amsterdam markets were firm; Paris, irregular. Spot sugar declined five points, to 2.70 a pound, lowest since 1934.

Reports are that Italy may have to buy as much as 75,000,000 bushels of wheat, due to failure of its own crop; country is said to have made arrangements to buy 20,000 tons of Bulgarian grain and has bought one cargo of Australian and a cargo of Argentine wheat. Italy has decreed that 20 per cent of coarse grains must be mixed with wheat in preparation of flour. While crop failures will eventually force many European countries into importing abnormally large quantities of wheat the United States has a winter wheat crop coming into market estimated at 754,000,000 bushels, second largest in history.

Directors of National Power & Light are scheduled to act today on proposition of Knoxville and the TVA to purchase for $7,500,000 electric properties of the Tennessee Public Service. Meanwhile the city of Indianapolis is reported to be negotiating for the purchase of Indianapolis Gas Co. and Indianapolis Water Co.

From Detroit comes the report that, following yesterday's hold reports to factories showing that the decline in retail sales of passenger cars and trucks which became pronounced in April is continuing into May, sales estimates and production schedules are again being revised at 210,000 to 230,000 units, which would be a drop of 50 per cent from the total of 453,000 in April last year.

Anacostia Copper reports net of $2,385,516, or 27 cents a share, for the first quarter, compared with $8,537,100, or 98 cents a share year ago. McKesson & Robbins earned three cents a share in the March quarter, compared with 45 cents a share in the 1937 quarter. American Safety Razor earned 43 cents a share in first three months vs. 55 cents a year ago. P. E. Myers earned $193,178, or 97 cents a share in April 30 quarter, vs. $321,735, or $1.61 a share year ago.

Public Service of New Jersey had net of $23,275,320 for 12 months to April 30, vs. $24,951,873 in preceding year.

A. & P. reports net of $9,119,114, or $5.50 a share in year to February 28, compared with $17,054,622, or $7.51 a share in preceding year.

U. S. Tobacco declared dividends of 32 cents on common and 45 cents on preferred. American Sugar Refining voted 25 cents on common; preceding 20 cents. Raybestos-Manhattan announced a 15-cent payment, vs. preceding 37 1/2 cents. Alabama Great Southern voted $3 payment, vs. $1.50 year ago. United Paperboard announced $3 payment on preferred, vs. $6 year ago. Technicolor declared a dividend of 50 cents on common, vs. preceding 25 cents.

Lights of New York

By L. L. STEVENSON

Ordinary cases heard in magistrate's court in New York are dull and drab. Street fights. Family battles. Drunks. Petty thieves. A procession usually of the broken and disheartened. Glimpses of currents that flow beneath the surface of urban life. Occasionally there is variation. Bizarre that brings smiles. For instance, Scotty McKay. He was up on a disorderly conduct charge. A policeman had found him peddling rings on Eighth avenue near Forty-first street. Scotty admitted that his rings cost him only 13 cents each and that he sold them for 50. His method was simple. He merely pretended to be drunk. Thus those approached thought that as he was under the weather, they could take advantage of him. Despite Scotty's knowledge of his psychology, the magistrate sent him to the workhouse for five days.

Then that case of Leo Marmor over in Brooklyn. He ordered passengers on a B. M. T. elevated train to stop their reading because he intended to stand first on the right side of his face. Then on the left side. As a finale to his act, he purposed standing on his nose. For reward, he didn't want pennies. He wanted nickels and dimes. They weren't to be thrown on the car floor as he wouldn't pick them up. He gave his performance as advertised. But he received no silver. Among the spectators was a B. M. T. special officer. In court it was shown that Marmor had been arrested a number of times by B. M. T. officers, so summer will be over before he's a free man again.

Felony court is next on the list. With a detective as a chaplain. Maurice Ross, accused of being a specialist in stealing sewing machines, was waiting for the magistrate. Loud cries arose. Investigation showed that a big striped cat had been caught behind a grating in a small window overlooking the detention pen. With Ross apparently a deeply interested spectator, officers went to work to liberate the trapped feline. Their attention thus engaged, Ross opened the door and stepped out into court. His guardian missed him as he reached an exit. Because of the crowd he couldn't use his revolver. So Ross got away. So did the cat.

Were there no restrictions, night court would be crowded at every session. There are those who look on night court as a show of thrilling interest. On occasions, I have to cover night court cases. Otherwise I would never go there. It is a show. A show of human misery. Broken lives. The dark side of the great city. Most of the cases are regarded as petty. But to many of those involved they are tragedy. And in spite of years of newspaper work, I'm inclined to take the view of those involved. So I stay away from night court as much as possible.

Just one incident to show why I feel as they do: A tall, erect, dignified old man. A small shriveled, weeping old woman. He had come home drunk and had beaten her. He admitted the charge. He was sorry. Sincerely sorry. As he voiced his regrets, he tried to put his arm around his wife. She pushed him away. The magistrate suspended sentence on the old man's promise to leave drink alone. But the couple did not leave court together. The wife walked swiftly ahead. And as she hurried down the aisle, with curious eyes on her, she muttered, "Married forty years . . . Forty years together . . . and I have to bring him into court."

Let's be a bit more cheerful. Making change, opening and shutting doors, helping old ladies with their parcels, answering dumb questions and driving a bus about the size of a house doesn't leave the man at the wheel with much chance for a sense of humor. But proof came when an old lady asked the driver of a Madison avenue bus if he stopped at the Waldorf.

"No, lady," he replied. "I have a little fat up in the Bronx."

"Horse 'n Buggy Drivers" to Blame for Accidents

Chicago.—Too many horse and buggy drivers are risky lives in a modern speed age, according to J. S. Baker, traffic safety consultant of the National Safety Council.

"In the days of horse-drawn vehicles," Baker said, "if the driver went to sleep, or had been drinking, he could depend on the horse to stay on the road. Nowadays, the driver is 100 per cent responsible."

The "model" driver, Baker said, is polite and relaxes in situations which upset others. He is consistent, minds his business, and anticipates difficulties with quick action.

Texans Still Prefer Old Muzzle-Loaders

Houston.—Caps for muzzle-loading rifles and buggy whips are a sports good store manager revealed that he stocks both those items regularly. "We get a call now and then for muzzle-loading caps from the old-timers who still prefer those guns," he said.

If one attempts to dig dandelions out they should always dig deep to get practically all of the root or else digging will be of little value. Easier than digging is to put a little gasoline in a long-stemmed oil can and squirt a few drops directly into the crown of each plant.

Strip Mining of Coal Is Common in Some Sections

Strip mining is a method of coal mining that is employed extensively in some parts of the country. It derives its name from the manner in which the top soil is stripped off the surface to permit excavation of coal. This method of getting coal out of the ground is used when the coal vein is close to the surface of the earth. Under such conditions, states a writer in the Chicago Tribune, it is more economical than to drive a shaft into the ground and tunnel for coal as is done in most mining operations.

Technological improvements in the equipment used in strip mining have given the industry new life in recent years. Highly mechanized operations permit the removal of the top soil at relatively small cost after which the coal is excavated and loaded into surface cars or trucks for removal to the washing and preparation plant.

The principal equipment used is an excavating machine for stripping the soil off the coal and a smaller excavator for loading the coal. The cost of the equipment is relatively high but labor costs are small in proportion.

With the proper equipment it is profitable to go down 50 feet for a layer of coal five feet in depth. More top soil may be economically removed when a richer vein is tapped.

Word "Reich" Is German for Government Systems

The word "reich" is a German word meaning kingdom, empire, state or commonwealth. Etymologists believe it to be related in origin to the English word "realm," which is traceable to the Latin "regere," to rule or keep straight. The verb "reichen" in German means to reach, observes a writer in the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

During the days of the German empire it was customary to speak of the empire as the reich to distinguish it from the kingdoms, provinces, confederacies and other political units of which it was composed. After the kaiser's abdication in 1918 the name survived as the common appellation of Germany, and it is correct to speak of the chancellor of the German reich. The word occurs in many compounds—Reichstag, reichsgericht, reichsland, reichsstadt, reichsbank, reichsthaler, reichsmark, reichsbishop, and reichsfuehrer, signifying respectively German national or state diet, supreme court, land, city, bank, dollar, mark, bishop and leader.

The first, second and third reich are the names applied to the three successive systems of government in Germany since 1871. The empire was the first reich; the post-war republic under Presidents Ebert and Hindenburg, the second reich, and the National Socialist regime, the third reich.

Mound Grave Gives UP COPPER JEWELS

The action of George A. Hamid Enterprises, Inc., to recover $25,000 damages in the case of the boxing bear, was dismissed by Supreme Court Justice Harry E. Schirick today at the Ulster county court house.

It was the complaint of the Hamid Corporation that it lost heavily in profits because the boxing bear, Teddy, has been unmanageable since being injured in an automobile accident near Highland last September 25.

Judge Schirick ruled that the law gave him no other course other than dismissal on the grounds of presuming the amount of profits.

The case of Willie Walldorf, one of the owners of the bear, for $50,000 because his brother, Gustav, had been injured so that he could not box with the bear, was dismissed also on the ground that Willie was suing for injuries not his own.

Urges Study of Music to Make Child Good Citizen

Evanston, Ill.—A study of music as a means of making a child a good citizen, a normal, poised individual, is advocated by Dr. A. R. Gilliland, chairman of the department of psychology at Northwestern university.

"I don't believe it is ever too early to begin a child's musical education," Dr. Gilliland said. "Children enter the world conditioned for it. Even the tiny infant responds to his mother's lullaby with a contented 'cooing' of his own, and before he can talk, he hums or claps his hands with rhythm."

Children should not be confronted with a musical instrument and told that they must learn to play it, Dr. Gilliland cautioned. If they make their own choice they learn to play faster.

"Music is essential to every child's education as a dominant force in character building," Dr. Gilliland said. "The timid child finds an outlet for his emotions and a means of self-expression, while many a 'bully' has been put in his place by the discipline of a school band."

Music training develops mental training, habits of accuracy, a good memory, and poise, Dr. Gilliland said. It affords the child an opportunity to be popular, to be "in" with the crowd.

Cobras Ride Airplane to Save Life of Young Man

Berlin.—In a desperate effort to save the life of a young man two cobras were rushed by air from the Berlin zoo to Brussels, Belgium. The patient had been near the point of death for several days. He was being treated for a rare malady and had been kept alive by injecting extracts of cobra glands. The supply became exhausted and telephone appeals were made to several European zoos. Berlin responded by sending the two reptiles by air mail.

Expert Denies There Is Single Fattening Food

Columbus, Ohio.—There is no such thing as a fattening food, according to Dr. James A. Tobey, New York city nutrition expert.

"It is the total of all the different foods consumed in the daily diet that may cause overweight," Dr. Tobey said, "but no single food is fattening in itself. Bread, rolls, pie, butter, milk, cream, ice cream and cocoa do not contribute to obesity or unsightly and dangerous overweight when they are parts of a well-balanced diet."

Rare Find Is Made in Burial Ground in Kentucky

Wickliffe, Ky. — An important archeological find of copper jewelry buried with one of the mound builders whose graves dot the river section in Illinois and Kentucky has just been announced by Col. Fain White King and his wife, Blanche Busby King, on whose farm near here there is an exhibit of open burial mounds of the prehistoric Indians.

This latest discovery is that of a lone grave, evidently the burial place of an important man among the mound builders, with copper beads on his breast, flints at his feet, and axes at his hand.

The farmer who first uncovered the grave and the ancient beads believed they were of gold and took them to town for testing. Col. King and his wife then surveyed and laid off the mound in the five foot square method of excavating which they have used for several years.

They found 619 copper beads, graduated in size from 3/4 inches in circumference to a half inch; five solid copper axes ranging from 6 1/2 inches to 1/4 of an inch in length; six elongated beads one to three inches long; one green stone cell (primitive chisel); four chipped flint celts; eleven nodules (lumped) arrow points, and three chip scrapers.

The string or thong on which the beads were strung is still preserved. The copper may have been glacial copper or brought down by early Indian traders from the Lake Superior region. Other finds of copper have been made in this region by the University of Chicago department of anthropology, which works here every summer, but nothing so extensive as this in one spot.

Under a cliff near the river the Kings also report the finding of a cache of 31 turkey tail notched spear points, five to seven inches long, chipped of flint as thin as a knife blade and of artistry comparable to the fine flints made in Europe by pre-historic people.

First Use of "Hoodlum"

Found in San Francisco

San Francisco.—Local philologists believe San Francisco has enriched the English language with the addition of the word "hoodlum."

It was used by the police in connection with a gang of bullies headed by Billy Hood. Police identified them as "hoodlums" because of their leader's name.

This was in the late 1860s. The gang was described as wearing "spring bottom trousers," a type narrowing just above the ankles and wide at the bottom, after early Spanish styles. Coats were double-breasted and the men wore broad-brimmed black hats.

Hood was killed by some ruffian, according to philologists.
